3 Experts Air Views Tomorrow

• THREE PROMINENT internationalists will be featured in a "Can We Stop the Cold War?" panel discussion tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. at Lisner in the eighth Colonial Program in the present series. Admission is free.

The panel includes Clarence Streit, president of Federal Union, Inc., and member of the executive board of Atlantic Union; Alan Cranston, president of United World Federalists; and Arthur Sweetser, director of the United Nations Information Center in Washington.

Baukhage Moderates
H. R. Baukhage, WMAL-ABC news commentator, will be moderator and Dr. John Brewer, professor of international law, is master of ceremonies.

The forum, sponsored by the Student Council, the Current Affairs Club, and the World Government Club, will feature a short talk by each speaker, a general panel discussion, questions from the audience, and a closing with two-minute summaries from each member.

Clarence Streit, author of "Union Now" and editor of "Freedom and Union," was born in Missouri. Educated in Missouri and Montana, Streit is a veteran of World War I. As a newspaperman, after attending Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship, he covered Mussolini's march on Rome, the Balkans, and the League of Nations.

Women Pick May Queens By Friday

• WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS must submit names and photographs of their May Day Queen candidates to the Student Activities Office by Friday noon. Further instructions will be given to the candidates at a meeting in the Student Activities Office, 4 p.m., Friday.

Senior Women Candidates
A May Day Queen candidate must be:

- (1) A woman.
- (2) A senior.
- (3) An outstanding contributor to the University.
- (4) Nominated by any of the twelve sororities, the Martha Washington Club, or any women's organization that wishes to select an independent.
- (5) A student with at least a 2.0 quality point index.
- (6) Registered at the University for at least six hours.
- (7) A girl that has never won a major University queen contest.

Adeline Andrews, chairman of the Queen contest, urges all women organizations, in selecting their candidates, to consider "all the qualities of personality, sincere interest in campus life and participation in extra-curricular activities."

With individual campaigning and pre-election publicity restricted, the primary voting will be from noon to 1 p.m. on May 5. Ballots will then be counted, and the polls reopened from 2 to 3 p.m. to elect the Queen from the four highest vote-getters in the primaries. Only women will be allowed to vote.

Crowning May 5

The winner will be crowned at the May Day Awards Assembly in Lisner Auditorium, May 5, 8 p.m. The Assembly this year replaces the May Day Carnival of past years.

Among those to be honored at the Assembly will be the campus organizations, the 29 outstanding students for Who's Who, the new Student Council officers, and the new Hatchet and Cherry Tree editors. A skit in pantomime of the University activities will be presented.

"Scotty" Fleetwood, activities director of the Student Council, says the entire Awards program will last a little over an hour.

'Review' Now Out

• STRIKING book-binders last week caused a delay in the delivery of the Colonial Review. The quarterly appeared yesterday on campus.

The city-wide strike forced several of the editors of the Review to do the stitching themselves. Selling for 25 cents, the spring issue contains more than 40 pages of short stories, poems, critical comment, and articles.

Subsistence Regulations Announced

• SUBSISTENCE PAYMENTS for summer school will not be based on a sum or average of credit hours taken for both sessions, the University's Office of Veterans Education announced Saturday.

For purposes of subsistence allowances, each session will be considered separately and a student's subsistence will be paid for the actual credit hours he takes in one session, regardless of the number of credit hours taken in the other session. Where two sessions run concurrently, subsistence payments will be based on the total credit hours for that concurrent period.

Six or more accelerated credit hours is considered full time training, 5 is $\frac{3}{4}$, 3 and 4 are $\frac{1}{2}$, and 2 is $\frac{1}{4}$. No subsistence is paid for one credit hour.

The Office of Veterans Education also reminds veterans that an undergraduate student may not apply "audit" courses toward subsistence allowances. Tuition, however, for an "audited" course will be paid by the Veterans Administration if the course is approved by the student's dean and is on the special audit approved form, as a necessary and recommended part of the student's curriculum.

Other regulations concerning veterans will be issued by the Veterans Education Office next week. Any questions concerning these and other provisions may be answered at the Office, 2029 H Street, N.W.

Trail Wins Contest

• MRS. MARTHA Trail received the winning trophy in the annual freshman public speaking contest sponsored by Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity last night in Lisner Auditorium.

Mrs. Trail, who spoke on "Bustles in Politics," competed with six other contestants, including Ken Fleiger, Elizabeth Harper, Dorothy Myers, Barbara Worley, Lucille Ovenden, and Dorothy Nelson.

Oquassa Swim Show Features War Dance

• BACK TO THE Indians went Oquassa for inspiration in a swimming number which climaxed and ended their show last Wednesday and Thursday at the Ambassador Hotel Pool.

Complete with bonfire, war paint and howls, four boys and two girls swam an "Indian War Dance" lighted by the light of four torches and the bonfire. At the end of the number the fire was splashed out by the furious kicking of the six swimmers and the torches were dramatically thrown into the pool.

Oquassa presented many new numbers at this show designed by the members of the group and Miss Virginia L. Dennis, faculty adviser. Betty Russell opened the show with a history of Oquassa and announced the numbers. The swimming was done to recordings.

Form Patterns

The opening number was "A Lantern Parade" by Miss Dennis and swam to "Raindrop Serenade." Sixteen swimmers formed patterns with their Japanese lanterns which supplied the only light. Next on the program was "Jalousie" done to the recording of the same name and swam and designed by Dottie Nelson, Marge Lyman, Chet McCall, and Bob Morris.

Swimmers in blue suits with colored sashes swam "Blues March" and "Rhapsody." The former was done to "Blues in the Night" and was the work of Jane Pyle. The latter, a fantasy for seven girls, was designed by Anne Maupin to the "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2."

"10th Avenue Slaughter" Also on the program were "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue" by Ginnie Ford, done by four men and four girls in red, white and blue; "Jazz Legato and Jazz Plizicato" by Miss Dennis, the first done by two girls and the second by the same girls joined by two men; and "Serenade" also by Miss Dennis and executed by five swimmers. The first two numbers were done to tunes of the same name and the last to "Penthouse Serenade."

Psychology Of Fear Topic Of Address

• "PSYCHOLOGY OF Fear" will be the topic of a talk to be given Thursday night by Dr. F. W. Zeylman, Van Emmichoven, Dutch psychiatrist and founder of the Institute of Peoples and Nations. The talk will be given in Government 1 at 8:15 as part of an open meeting sponsored by Psi Chi, national psychology honorary. Dr. Van Emmichoven will explain the psychology of "cold war" propaganda and the part fear plays in such propaganda. He is touring the United States as the guest of the Netherlands Embassy.

Vanishing Veteran

• THE VETERAN student is gradually disappearing from the American campus. At the University it is estimated that there will be fewer GI's next year than there have been since the war.

A great deal of comment has been made since the war's end about the adult men and women who crowded American colleges and universities to overflowing. They have been accused of dragging down scholastic standings, of sponging off the taxpayer, and of introducing an "evil worldliness" to campuses. It has been common, in the past few years, to hear the remark that it would be nice when things returned to "normal."

Yet, records show that the veteran students of this nation have made better grades, done more research, and generally gleaned more from both lecture and laboratory courses than their non-veteran classmates. Their so-called "sponging from the taxpayer" has given them an opportunity for vocational training and cultural education which most would otherwise have not received, and which will, in the long run, be repaid by intelligent, constructive citizenship. Their "worldliness," although startling to the more sedate in some of its aspects, has added to the college scene a mature stability and an unequalled stimulus for knowledge and thought.

Now "normalcy" appears to be returning, and non-veteran high school graduates are increasing in number. It is not easy for these incoming students: to ask the same seriousness of purpose of students who have for the most part lived on an allowance from Daddy is a big order.

Is it too much to ask these high school graduates to strive for a mature attitude in college? We think not, for they will have benefited from the experiences of their older brothers and sisters without having lost the freshness of their secondary training. Moreover, they will have a zeal for activity possessed only by teen-agers. Yet, it will undoubtedly be difficult for them. They will have no small task in living up to the standards and accomplishments of their predecessor—the now vanishing veteran.

Gone, Not Forgotten

• THE ANNOUNCEMENT that the Independent Student Association is ready to seek an officially inactive status marks the end of another attempt at organization by non-Greeks.

A group of mature veterans and eager non-vets founded ISA in 1947 after some months of deliberation on the action that an independents' organization should follow. Splits which arose in the discussion stage were never resolved, for, although constitutionally providing for educational, social, and political activity, the group neglected the first two in favor of the latter.

With the nucleus of its charter members graduated, ISA never again reached the heights of its initial successes, but the three-year experiment showed the University two things:

1. Independents need not be inactive. The platforms of ISA stood as logical needs for the campus. A revised Student Council constitution and new Student Life nominating machinery followed ISA hopes.

2. Going inactive is no disgrace. ISA might be compared to the Populist Party in national politics. Too progressive for the country at large, its platform finally found acceptance in the major political groups. Having no more issues to belabor, it folded. But its accomplishments stand.

Cold War

• SOME FAMOUS personalities will be in Lisner Auditorium tomorrow night to discuss the possibility of stopping the Cold War. Names like Clarence Streit, who advocated union with Great Britain for many years prior to the Second World War, and H. R. Buehage, well known radio commentator, are familiar to everyone with a knowledge of current events. The others on the program, Alan Cranston, president of the United World Federalists, and Arthur Sweetser, director of the UN Information Service in Washington, are also excellently qualified to participate in the forum.

The sponsoring groups labored unceasingly to get even more "big names" on the Lisner stage tomorrow night. Other prominent figures considered were "World Citizen" Garry Davis, Socialist Norman Thomas, and Chancellor Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago, as well as Ely Culbertson, the bridge expert who also has a plan for world security, and several of our more internationally-minded Congressmen at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

We cordially welcome the Very Important Persons who are taking part in the panel discussion, and anticipate an enlightening evening. We urge students who are interested in current international affairs (and that ought to include all 12,000 of them) not to miss the program.

Letters To The Editors

Kirsten Comments

Dear Editors:

I should like to comment on your April 18 editorial "Utter Inefficiency," which takes a running pot shot at me and the execution of my Student Council duties.

Regarding the written report of Council activities from July 1949 through January 1950 which was due to be turned in February 1 (eleven weeks ago), I am quite well aware that the report has not yet been finished. I purposely laid aside the work on this report in favor of other Council duties (and studying) which I considered of more importance. No parties suffered from the report not being completed in time as it is largely a summary (rehash) of Student Council minutes for that period. These minutes have always been available at the Reserve Desk at Lisner Library for any interested parties, including the Hatchet Editors, who have made a fetish of badgering me for the report periodically.

In the matter of the report of the Qualifications Committee, of which I was chairman, I should like to point out that The Hatchet shows a surprising lack of understanding of the work of the Committee if it says that the report contains "a list of qualifications for candidacy in the coming elections." The report rather sets certain broad limitations on the number of positions which may be held by any student. The report, which the Council this week made into law, would not "make ineligible some candidates whose 'nomination' has already been accepted." The report would not have the effect of making any of the candidates "ineligible."

As for the remark, attributed to me, that this tardiness is due to my own "utter inefficiency," I must say that this is absolutely false. The explanation which I offered to the Council for the delay was two-fold. First, the Committee members (President of the Engineers Council, a member of Student Life, and the President of Mortar Board) are people whose extra-curricular duties are so widespread and many that I had a great deal of difficulty scheduling meeting times when all four of us could gather at the same time. This, of course, impeded the progress of the Committee. The second reason for delay was that it became increasingly apparent that it was difficult to classify campus positions into Major Activities and Minor Activities. Since

CAMPUS POLITICS

• A RECENT survey of 44 colleges and universities on student governmental setups by a committee at DePauw University reveals that:

1. Of all the colleges and universities surveyed, an average of 55 per cent of all students voted in student elections. In schools without fraternities or sororities the average vote was 79 per cent.

2. Thirteen schools used the senate system and 20 elected members of the government at large.

3. The average size of the governing group was 18.5 members, averaging by classes 1.6 freshmen, 3.2 sophomores, 5 juniors and 7.2 seniors.

4. Results indicated that the higher the percentage of Greek letter organization, the less politically organized the vote seemed to be. Political parties were not in existence on 28 campuses, and only 12 of the 44 schools answered "yes" to the question of the existence of organized parties.

He: "And what did the professor say this morning?"
She: "Nothing."

He: "Naturally, but just how did he express it this time?"

CAMPAIGN FOR TRUTH

In the light of Soviet philosophy, a professor of political philosophy at Colgate University appraises the Russian version of the airplane attack.

"On what basis can a responsible observer who has no direct access to information form an opinion as to who is telling the truth," queries the professor in the Letters to The New York Times column. For the individual, the question must be reduced to an inquiry as to whether "lying" constitutes an integral part of Western or of Soviet ethics.

"Soviet Russia professes the philosophy of materialistic determinism. Emile Borel, the French philosopher, says, 'those who believe in a rigorously materialistic determinism would be logical with themselves in having no aversion for lies, whose social value appears incontestable, so long as they are momentarily useful.'

"The Soviets therefore are perfectly logical and adhere consistently to their philosophy if they have no aversion for lies.

"If the ethics are reduced to a merely social problem, then we have to accept lying as an integral part of them, so long as lying serves a momentarily socially useful purpose.

"While hypocrisy is practiced in the West on a scale which does not enhance the health of Western ethics, the fact nevertheless remains that it does not constitute an elemental stone in the structure of Western ethics, whereas it does, on the other hand, form an integral part of Soviet ethics.

"Therein lies the grave difficulty for an understanding between the Americans and the Russians."

EDUCATION, FROM THE PRATTLER

A cross-section of college students saw one of their number fall down a flight of stairs in a rush to get to class. These were the reactions a psych major reported to us.

A PRE-MED . . . Whips out his first aid kit and checks for broken bones and lacerations.

An ENGINEERING student . . . Counts the stairs, computes his velocity, and tries to determine the force with which he hit each step.

A FRESHMAN . . . Wonders if he should take notes.

A PRE-LAW student . . . Searches for some way to sue the college.

one of the Editors of The Hatchet was present at the meeting when I offered the above explanation, I cannot understand the misquotation.

The remark "personal inefficiency" (not "utter inefficiency" as you relate), was made in reference to the July-January report, not the qualifications report. The remark itself is a bromide often employed during the year by a Council member regarding some falling on his part. It has reached the position of being a running gag at Council meetings. The remark was made by me in a joking vein and was accepted as such by my fellow Council members.

• MARGARET FRITSCH and Dave Shiver, both students at the University, were chosen by Al Capp as the typical Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner at the American Cancer Society Hoedown held in Uline Arena last Thursday night.

The Hoedown was sponsored by the District Chapter of the American Cancer Society as part of the annual program to raise funds for the many projects which the Society supports, including research at the University Hospital.

Several hours before the Hoedown got underway Al Capp held a press conference in his suite at the Willard Hotel.

The Hatchet reporter who covered the conference shared the spotlight with other collegiate and local papers, and reports: "If the day should come that a typical American can be singled out as being 'American,' Al Capp might well be nominated for the position. Not only does he look like Li'l Abner but he has all the heart-warming human qualities that Li'l Abner possesses.

"Capp feels that the comics provide the wholesomest kind of entertainment on the American scene. Before finishing the interview I asked him what he would advise the young aspirants in the field of cartoon drawing. His smile came before the answer and he said: 'If you can, first of all, discourage him. If that doesn't work show him a picture of me and I'm sure we'll have more sports writers in the next ten years.'"

Prof. Stone Gets Award To Study

• PROFESSOR George Winchester Stone, Jr., of the English department, has received a Guggenheim fellowship. It was announced last week. He will be on sabbatical leave from the University during the academic year 1950-51.

The Guggenheim Foundation award will allow him to work uninterruptedly from August of this year until September of 1951 on a portion of the "History of London Dramatic Performances, 1660-1800," on which he has been engaged for the past 12 years.

The project is being carried out in collaboration with professors from Harvard, Washington State, and the University of Pennsylvania. The history, which is to cover as fully as possible almost a century and a half of London stage performances, will be divided into eight volumes, each covering one particular period. Dr. Stone is undertaking the records of the famous Drury Lane and Covent Garden theatres during the last two periods, 1740 through 1800.

Every recorded play performance in London during the 140 years is to be included, accompanied by a listing of its cast, a resume of its plot, and contemporary comment about it.

Angles Develop As Election Nears

Independents' Group Inactive, Affects Politics

By GIL GIMBLE

• A NEW ASPECT in the political picture was introduced with last week's announcement that the Independent Student Association, once the strongest independent group on campus, has become defunct.

Of the present 21 candidates for Student Council office, Greek candidates number 18.

The ISA, whose campaigns in the last three years gave independents their greatest influence in campus politics, is ready to seek an inactive status from the Student Life Committee.

No Political Activity

Independent President Paul E. Fischel made this statement to Council Vice-President Len Kirschen:

"To the best of my knowledge, the Independent Student Association has disbanded, and no meetings nor any kind of social activities are held anymore."

Fischel, who had been treasurer of the group, became president after the withdrawal of the president, vice-president, and secretary.

Leading a moribund existence during the current year, ISA held one program meeting and several more devoted to attempts to reorganize interest. With few tangible results, ISA took no part in political activity this year.

This is in sharp contrast with last year's Council race when six of the current Council officers ran with ISA endorsement.

ISA Platform

The ISA also carried a platform in 1948 asking for 1) a charter "defining the legislative and administrative functions now vested in the Student Council and clarifying the jurisdiction of the Student Life Committee and 2) for the establishment of a Student Council by direct representation, which will have the power to ratify the appointment of student members to the Student Life Committee."

Although all these objectives were not reached, the work of the 1948-49 Student Council showed results. The Council received a new constitution and began ratifying Student Life nominees.

Election Ads

• ANY CANDIDATE for Student Council office who wishes to place a picture in his Hatchet ad may have his picture taken in the Hatchet office Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoon between 1:30 and 2:30.

Separate Political Parties Compete In Council Race

• THE FORMATION of two separate political parties has emerged as the latest development in the campaign for Student Council offices. Called the "United Colonials" and the "Students' Alliance," the parties are based on the slates published in last week's Hatchet.

This is the first time in many years that the two-party system has been featured in a Student Council election. The election this year will take place May 3 and 4.

With the withdrawal of Robert Mazero from the Publicity Directorship race, that office will remain open for new applications until Friday noon.

3 New Candidates

New candidates named last week are Robert Hildebrand and Thomas Mutchler for Student Union chairman, and Robert Lesser for program director. Paul Sifton will also be running for the latter post.

Member-at-large candidate Bill Benson also withdrew last week, leaving Gene Witkin and John Sestokas vying for the position.

Presidential aspirant Tad Lindner, of the "United Colonials," declared in a statement to The Hatchet: "To work for greater student participation and representation in student affairs within the University is of vital interest to all. Regardless of how the affairs and objects of the many student organizations are and have been varied, there is one object the fulfillment of which necessitates the efforts of all interested students and organizations."

Expansion And Growth

"I believe that we must strive for greater student contribution towards that ultimate object which our University officials have so ably stated—that is, for the expansion and balanced growth of GW to the position of leader amongst the universities of the nation. The successful coordination of these efforts is the task I set before myself."

Frank O'Brien, vice-presidential candidate on the same ticket, states: "I, as an interested member of the student body, have always worked for the strengthening and enlarging of the scope of student activity. I believe that there is a sound nucleus on this campus to

1950 Cherry Tree Due Next Week; 700 Sold

• THE 1950 CHERRY TREE is due to be released between May 3 and 5. This is the first time the University annual has been out before exams. Distribution centers will be announced in next week's Hatchet.

This year's Cherry Tree, containing 272 pages, features Don Quixote and Sancho Panzo in their journey through the kingdom of King Kampusite. The drawings are by Tim Evans and the captions are by Natalie Farwell.

Two Payments Made

The biggest problems of the staff, according to Chet McCall, editor, were having the book released before exams, a publication acceptable to students, alumni, and University officials, and having the book pay for itself.

The first two payments have already been made and the student contract with the printer will be completely paid if the students are reasonably receptive, McCall reported.

Colored Cover Shown

So far, approximately 700 books have been sold, and to make the 1950 Cherry Tree a financial success, 1400 must be sold.

Featured on the cover is a full color kodachrome of the University grounds. A sample has been on display in the lobby of the Student Union.

Students wishing to subscribe to the 1950 Cherry Tree may do so at the Cherry Tree office between noon and 1 p.m. on the third floor of the Student Union Office Building.

Pupils Attend Dress Parade

• HOME ECONOMICS pupils and teachers from public and private secondary schools in the Washington area have been invited to attend a dress parade and tea in Lisner Auditorium Lounge tomorrow afternoon.

The program is sponsored by the home economics department of the University.

Miss Hazel Markel, program director of station WTOP, will be fashion commentator for the dress parade. Students of the clothing classes will model their dresses. The department's food classes will prepare and serve tea.

Dr. Dowling To Illinois

• DR. HARRY F. Dowling, clinical professor of medicine at the University since 1934, will leave for the University of Illinois June 1, to become a professor of preventive medicine at the newly established Department of Preventive Medicine there.

Dr. Dowling is the author of "The Anti-Bacterial Diseases" and has written numerous scientific articles.

SC Approves Qualification For Activities

• VICE-PRESIDENT Len Kirsten's Qualifications Committee Report was unanimously approved by the Student Council at a special meeting last Thursday.

The report recommended:

1. No student should hold more than two Major positions at one time.
2. No student should hold more than two Major and one Minor positions concurrently.
3. Those holding no Major should be allowed a maximum of four Minor positions.
4. Positions on Hatchet Board of Editors and Student Council should not be held concurrently by any one student.

Valid Till June 5

The report broke down into Major and Minor categories all campus activities. The Student Council was included in the Major listing.

Although these rules are in force this semester, they were recommended to next year's Student Council by Council President Charles Crichton. Next year's officers may change or hold to them, according to their own desires, he pointed out.

The above rulings will be in effect until June 5, unless the new Council adopts them, Crichton said.

Kirsten's report further recommended "the entire question of qualifications be reviewed at the beginning of each term of office of the incoming Student Council."

Council Compiles

"In passing these rules, the Council was complying with the Constitution which requires that we make rules classifying major and minor positions," Kirsten said. "They are 'model' rules and we hope that future Councils will adjust them to their own needs."

The Student Council has been told by the Board of Trustees that that body will "adhere to its previous ruling limiting permission for fund drives to the Community Chest and the Red Cross."

The statement appeared in a letter sent the Council by the Board. Last February the Student Council had asked reconsideration of the ruling so that charity drives could be decided by the students themselves.

Kirsten Comments

By LEN KIRSTEN

• CHERRY TREE REPORT. Comes word from Chet McCall (pictured left), Cherry Tree editor, that the yearbooks are due between May 3 and May 5, from Philly where they are being printed and bound. 700 copies have been sold and 700 more have to be sold to break even. McCall hopes the remaining Cherry Trees will be bought. "We have to prove to the University that the students want a yearbook," Chester says.

ANKLE DEEP. Recently, when the cement walks were being poured behind the Union, President Marvin, Mr. Toomey, and an assortment of sidewalk superintendents witnessed one of those happenings which usually appear in the Keystone Cop movies. A few moments after the cement spread in the molds, a casual klutz sailed out of the back door of the Union and plunged ankle-deep into the wet cement. Cracked Mr. Toomey to Dr. Marvin, "Well, I guess the stuff's not dry yet."

OUTSIDE INFLUENCES. In a letter to The Hatchet last issue, the Commander of King Chapter No. 4, Disabled Veterans, wrote, "There has been a misunderstanding as to the nature of our meeting March 30 . . . We were quite disturbed when you attached political significance . . . regarding our term 'combat team.'"

The poster on University bulletin boards ballyhooing the meeting said, "Veterans. How Will the Hoover Report Affect You! ??? We want your support and opinions to defeat the bill. Do you know of benefits you will lose?—let us tell you. Thursday, March 30, 8 p.m., Room 101, Hall of Government." If solicitation of support to defeat a Congressional bill isn't politics, my name ain't you-know-what.

SUBVERSIVE ELEMENT. A navy student at the University tells a story of an experience in his earlier enlisted days in the navy before the war when he was stationed on a ship in California. In a saloon, he chatted with a guy who turned out to be a spark plug for a fascist hate group. The gob, thinking to trap the guy, accepted his offer of a bundle of hate pamphlets which they agreed he would "distribute" to his shipmates. The sailor gave the hater his address and, in a few days, the bundle arrived on ship. The trap didn't work because the package bore no return address which the sailor thought he would turn over to his superior officers. He was stuck with the pamphlets. What to do? He didn't dare risk throwing them in the trash can. He might be caught throwing them in the incinerator. He kept them in his locker, until the ship put out to sea, fearing a locker inspection all the time. The first night out, he spent over two hours at the rail tearing the pamphlets into tiny bits and throwing them overboard, a few at a time. He says he leaves the sleuthing to Navy Intelligence these days.

CHIT CHAT. Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary, shaping up a plan to build an ODK memorial behind the Library . . . Kill that rumor about food poisoning in the Union Cafeteria last week. A couple of gals came down with a virus and thought it was something they ate, but a check proved it wasn't the food . . . The Radio Workshop under Pete Smith has made a big comeback this semester, drawing new faces and voices. They hit the air waves often, but they never spread the word in advance so students can tune in . . . Whatever happened to the wooden stands the Business Office was going to construct for Hatchet distribution, so that one would not have to go through a genuflection to pick up a copy from the floor?

Rabbi Segal Speaks

• RABBI HENRY Segal of the B'nai Israel Congregation will be the guest speaker at the Chapel Service on Friday at 12:10 p.m.

• THE BIRDS are returning from the Southland, our streets are being torn to pieces, pinnings are slacking off, Ocean City is creeping into our conversation, and—believe it or not—this semester is on its way out. With the sun making its appearance every other day, the SUB is being abandoned for healthier gathering spots, and the students are substituting ice cream cones for soup on their daily menu. With this in mind and a life-time subscription to the lady in the balcony I bring you the news of the week:

SATURDAY NITE IS THE LONELIEST (?) NITE OF THE WEEK: The Sigma Nus didn't think so because they pulled out their water pistols at the Cameron Club and squirted to their heart's content—trouble ended the battles when the john overflowed and the water supply was cut off . . . the Deltas had their big affair with wine, women, and enchanting music . . . above Dupont Underpass the Kappa Sigs staged their first Military Ball and a success it was—clever as the word itself was Harry Crosswell's camp follower's get-up, with Eileen McNally as his four-year-old daughter . . . the House on 19th Street was the locale for the SAE's "Wake Party" held for those Sig Alphas who are pinned—rumor has it that the entire fraternity was present (hurray for love) . . . the KA's were taking it easy, saving their energy for the coming Dixie Weekend—Dan Dervan who recently returned from Europe was telling the boys some of his "Occupational" tales . . . after the final performance of "The Warrior's Husband" the cast and friends gathered at one of the houses and some didn't get home till 0800 Sunday morn—Arch Harrison and Betty Browder put on a show and ridiculed (in fun) the outstanding scenes of the play.

BEFORE I FORGET: Joanne Spaulding had to wait after she was selected as the new "Dream Girl of PIKA" for Big John Neary to stop singing: she then planted a grande kiss on the (no adjectives available) boy . . . the Sigma Chi's exchanged with the Chio's Sunday . . . likewise the ADPI's with Acacia—what was intended to be a miniature golf afternoon turned into a bowling affair . . . Zeta Tau Alpha exchanged with the Phi Sigs . . . last Monday the Pi Phi's served coffee to the Pikes . . . Theta's likewise with Kappa Sigs . . . Ginny Perrott, KD, back from Newfoundland with "pretty George." Turn-About Week at the Phi Sig house (pledges get even with the actives) climaxed Saturday night with a Wild West party.

SOMEWHERE IN THE NIGHT: Bobby Levy, Kappa, appeared in history class with a rock—dates are mixed up according to Ray Gordon, SAE . . . Howard Malask, TEP, is engaged to Sonja Zalka, and vice-versa . . . From the cheerleaders: No. 16—Jody Hastings, Pi Phi, is now pinned to Jack Hires, Sigma Nu.

FINALE: Former Phi Sig Prexy Bill Collings is now in the diaper business: It's a boy—last Saturday . . . a baby girl for Beth Paul, wife of Chuck, KA . . . Campus Celebrity Capers will just about finish the social year this May 6 . . . Wilma Bailey, ADPI, was caught jumping off the roof of her house at 0200 a. m. this past week: first floor was on fire, you know . . . FLASH! Connie Hoffman, Delt president, presented Millie Arthur with a hunk of diamond.

observed "the disunity and ineffectiveness of the democracies in meeting the crises of history."

Nationalism, he claims, is the cause of the downfall of nations. The democracies of the world are far stronger than the authoritarian states and yet are bullied by them constantly.

The solution, he says, is federation, whereby, sovereign governments give up some of their power, but the people gain new freedom and influence as citizens of a powerful democracy. He was recently nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize.

Sweetser With League

Arthur Sweetser, now serving 29 years of unbroken international work, was associated with the League of Nations for 23 years.

During World War II, Sweetser served with the War Information Service, and soon to Deputy Directorship in the State Department and the United Nations. Named to many American Delegations at UN Conferences on UNRRA, International Bank, San Francisco Charter Conference, and the First General Assembly in London, he was asked by Trygve Lie to help with liaison and contact. Here he served as special adviser to the Secretary-General, when a Washington office of the UN was opened, which he headed.

Alan Cranston, successor to Cord Meyer, Jr., as president of the United World Federalists, was born in California in 1914.

During the war, he was chief of Foreign Languages Division of the OWI, became a private in the Army, and soon became editor of Army Talk. Hoping for a stronger UN before the San Francisco Conference, he wrote "The Killing of the Peace," judged one of the 10 best books of 1945.

Meets Greenville Clark

Active in UWF from the beginning, he has travelled widely lecturing and speaking. At the Dublin Conference on World Government, he met Greenville Clark and supported his stand on the "Broad Approach" policy on Russia. This means, he asserts, making the UN into an effective world federation and the East-West problem interdependent.

H. R. Baukhage, radio news commentator, received the National Headliners Award for the Best Domestic News Broadcast of 1945—describing the Hyde Park funeral of FDR—and was selected by ABC to cover the Nuremberg Trials.

Players Close Season With Mirthful Show

• THE UNIVERSITY Players ended their 1949-50 season Saturday night on a wave of spontaneous laughter and enthusiastic applause for their final production, "The Warrior's Husband."

If the Julian Thompson comedy had a theme which was discernible to the audience, it undoubtedly lay in the good, hearty belly-laugh. The Players pointedly stated that their only desire was to give the audience "a little relaxation and an evening of good fun." Which they did!

The plot centered around the efforts of Hercules, his "press-agent" Homer, and a Greek army to capture the famed girdle of Hippolyta, chieftainess of the Amazons, the legendary tribe where women ruled their men-folk with an iron hand. With entertaining and pertinent comment on social war, and love, "The Warrior's Husband" was a novel approach to the perennial battle of the sexes.

Charles Vorbach, as Sapiens Pomposianus, husband of the Amazon queen, minced his way through the "ingenue" role with an éclat which was distinguished by his every gesture and nuance of speech. His expressive eyes and well-conceived, yet unstudied, movements reflected a professional timbre which was unparalleled by any other member of the cast.

The Love Interest

Two other principals who created flesh and blood characters were Davis Rogers and Lawrence Strawbridge—the love interest. As Antiope, the Amazonian princess, Miss Rogers walked, ran, leaped, whirled, fought, and wrestled her way through the part with amazing alacrity. Strawbridge's actions, forceful voice, and polished tones added immeasurably to the illusion of reality which surrounded the highly improbable plot.

Both Strawbridge and Miss Rogers are to be complimented on the excellent manner in which they performed the difficult duel and wrestling scene in the second act.

A fourth member of the cast who gave an intense, and well-received performance, was Mary Will Clements as Heroica. Her interpretation of a role which was small in the number of lines, gave it a stature all of its own.

Mortimer Snerd-like

Clyde Stallings, who was praised for his dancing in Noah, proved with his portrayal of Hercules that he can also act. The lumbering, Mortimer Snerd-like strong man was a favorite with the audience, and Stallings maintained the characterization on a level which would do credit to the best character actor among the Players.

Marilyn Earls (Hippolyta), Elizabeth Johnstone (Pomposia), and Mary Mangum (Caustica) handled their parts with aplomb. Marilyn, who had been out of school with a cold for several days just prior to dress rehearsal, gave no evidence that her illness had affected her acting, which was cool and self-assured.

Veeps OK 3 Motions At Meeting

• THREE MOTIONS passed at the meeting of the Vice-Presidents' Council last Tuesday night concerned changing the number of groups represented in the Council giving Comptroller of the Student Council a vote, and enlarging the membership of that organization.

In view of the problem of poor attendance faced by the Veeps Council, Lee Harrison introduced a motion to the effect that the Council consist only of those undergraduate organizations which meet at least once a month; with membership available to graduate groups if they request it. The motion was carried, with one member abstaining.

With the discussion of point two of the agenda, that concerning the enlarging of the Student Council, Edith Venezy introduced a motion which provided that the Student Council investigate the possibility of enlarging that body. The motion was carried unanimously.

During the discussion period of this motion, Peter Martin brought forth the inquiry as to whether the now voteless comptroller of the Student Council, since he is directly concerned in some of the Council's issues, should not have the privilege of a vote. After some discussion, he introduced a motion to investigate such a change. It passed without dissent.

Drischler Sets Two Records

• FOUR TRACK records fell by the wayside in last week's intramural meet at Western High School.

John Drischler, representing Welling Hall, Joe Logan, SAE, and John Grinnell, Welling Hall, all knocked over records that had been set in the past three years of intramural track. The points gathered by the two Welling Hall entrants in these record-breaking performances, were instrumental in giving the Well Hall aggregation the All-U track championship.

The well-conditioned Drischler was a two-event winner taking the mile and the half mile in record times. Beating the times of Dave Burke and Charlie Thorne in the mile, Drischler was clocked at 5:07 compared to John Duncan's record of 5:13. This year's winner was never pressed. Thorne was second to Drischler and Burke was first in his heat of the mile, but his time was slower than Thorne's.

In the half mile, Drischler came back to knock eight seconds off the record of 2:21. His 2:13 bettered the time of Bob Parkinson in the other heat of the half mile.

Joe Logan pulled one of the surprises of the meet not only winning the javelin event, but setting a new record for University intramural meets. Logan's 148 foot, 1 inch heave bettered the 144 foot, 1 1/4 inch record of past years.

The other new record was set by John Grinnell in the 12-pound shot put. Grinnell's distance was around 49 feet. Grinnell also holds the intramural track record in the 16-pound shot.

• COME DOWN to the tin tab . . . and watch spring basketball practice every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and get an idea of what next year's hoop squad will be. Coach Bill Reinhart is starting a bit early this year, building a team that will undoubtedly be the '51 Southern Conference Champions. Along with Frosh Coach George Garber, he has developed the best freshman team GW has had in years.

Lost via graduation are co-captains John Moffatt, Phil McNiff, Len Small, Sam Schrieber, and Howie Hoffman. To compensate for this big loss, Coach Reinhart must rely on the impressive freshmen. Coming up to the varsity from the yearling squad are the following: Tex Silverman, frosh high scorer, Ken Kern, Bob Edenaum, Joe Mascarella, Bob Marraio, Dave Bushe, Ken Hirshfield, and Russ Bailey.

Along with veterans "Ace" Adler, Art Cerra, Bud Goglin, Bob Parkinson, and yours truly, it's clear to see that the '51 Buff and Blue boys will gain the rapid attention of many a critical basketball enthusiast.

The Buff and Blue receive Richmond today at 2 p.m. on the Ellipse, hit VPI at Griffith Stadium Thursday, in a 1:30 game, face Washington and Lee Friday in a 2 p.m. Ellipse battle, move to Charlottesville Saturday to meet Virginia, and wind up a week of crucial activity by facing William Monday afternoon at 1:30. George Washington leads the Northern division of the Southern Conference with a 4-0 record in loop play. The overall record of the hustling Colonial nine is 8-2. The Buff have already defeated Richmond and W&L this season, but are meeting VPI and Virginia for the first time this year.

Buff 3, West Va. 1
West Virginia caused little worry to George Washington who rolled over the Mountaineers last Saturday at Griffith Stadium. Ed Hughes pitched two-hit ball for five innings. Joe Kennelly took over at that point, keeping West Virginia completely dormant for the rest of the afternoon.

Joe Famulatte and Lou Ciarrocca were the chief "mountain-climbers" but the loose pitching of Art Donato didn't help the West Virginia cause. Walks, errors, and singles by Hughes and Chet Pietras helped the Buff to mount up a 4-0 lead by the third inning.

Famulatte singled and scored on Ciarrocca's double in the fourth, while the Fam drove in two runs the next inning and scored again, himself, when Ciarrocca tripled to deep right field.

Pietras' two hits contributed to the 11-hit output that the Colonials poured on three West Virginia hurlers. Defensively, the Buff and Blue backed up the pitching as Bob Ciento, Pietras and Ciarrocca combined for two twin killings. Hughes struck out three men whereas Kennelly fanned two. Hughes allowed no walks and Kennelly's three passes caused him no serious concern.

Buff 9, VMI 7
The Colonials returned home last Thursday night from a short, but conclusively successful, trip to the Old Dominion State. First stop on the journey was Lexington, where VMI gave the Buff and Blue a terrific battle before succumbing by a 9-7 score.

While pitchers Tim Shanks and Joe Kennelly were adequate in controlling the Kaydets, a lack of infield support put the Colonials in a hole more than once. A wild throw to first by catcher Don Druckenmiller allowed two VMI runs, and errors by Jack Tynan and Bob Ciento, and a late throw by Shanks added to the visitors' misfortunes.

The big sticks corrected these defensive mistakes. Ciento and Druckenmiller bludgeoned three hits as the Colonials roared back late in the game to overtake the Kaydets. Kennelly ended up as the winning hurler.

Buff 2, W&L 1
Moving over to Washington and Lee, Coach Reinhart's crew found the going just as rough. The Buff and Blue came from behind to tie the game, winning with a tenth-inning run. Bones Becraft turned in another sterling performance on the mound, allowing four hits and striking out six.

Navy Wins Over Buff In Regatta

By JEANNE M. DAVIS

• COLONIAL SAILORS took second place in a seven team regatta held Saturday and Sunday at the U.S. Naval Academy.

By securing a top place in this regatta the University team became eligible to sail in the Middle Atlantic Dinghy Championships to be held at Navy May 5-6.

Similar elimination regattas were held throughout the East and the high scoring teams of these eliminations will be the other competitors in the Championship Regatta.

At the end of Saturday's races in light to moderate breezes Navy led with a score of 61 points, the University was second with 51, and Princeton third with 45.

Sunday the weatherman's prediction of cool and rainy was an understatement, but despite the torrential rains and light air the sailors continued their racing. University skippers narrowed the gap between the previous day's first and second place scores.

Final standings were: Navy, 101; the University, 94; Princeton, 87; Stevens, 64; Haverford, 55; Lafayette, 49; and Drexel, 38. The top four teams will sail in the Dinghy Championships.

Bill Lepthien of Navy, "B" division skipper, was high point man of the regatta with a score of 53. Bob (See REGATTA, Page 10)

Tennis Crew Awaits VPI, W&L Matches

• TENNIS ACTIVITY resumes after a breathing spell of almost two weeks tomorrow when the Colonials meet VPI in Blacksburg, Thursday will find the Buff still on the road in Lexington where they battle W&L's powerful net crew.

The Buff and Blue have had no matches since their loss to Navy. The netmen, however, have been busy at Ball's Crossroads fighting each other for berths on the squad.

Buff 'Good Pitch, Field, Hit' Add Up To Diamond Wins

• YOU CAN SEE A LOT of baseball this week if you want to, and what you may see may not be displeasing to you, if you are a Buff fan. Richmond, VPI, and William and Mary will all be in town within the next seven days, giving the Colonials an opportunity really to build on their 4-0 conference record, which they have established in the last couple of weeks.

What the opposition will see is a ball club that has come along surprisingly well since losing two close games to Rutgers and Vermont back in the cold days of early April. The guys are in shape, they've had their bad days, and have shown that they are ready to roll from here on in. The winning streak stands at seven now, as a result of the win over West Virginia—it could go up to 11 before next Tuesday.

How are they doing it? A few of the present assets of the corporation might be mentioned, though this resume will not be all-inclusive. Take the pitching scene. Bones Becraft has turned in some great performances recently. Against Maryland, he allowed only five hits, and at least three of those were flukes. Becraft field W&L to four hits last week. The lanky right hander is definitely the number one man of the Colonial pitching corps. Tim Shanks has missed some of the support that Bones has received, but Shanks has displayed enough talent to warrant his receiving plenty of work on the mound. The side arm artist will no doubt go against VPI on Thursday. Ed Hughes has yet to go the full nine innings, but when he has appeared—as against West Virginia—he has looked good. More work is all he needs and that's what he'll get with the slew of games coming up. Joe Kennelly has turned out to be the other hero of the hurling staff. The Moose has turned in more than one effective relief job, the most recent being his no-hit effort for four innings against the Mountaineers. Kennelly looks as fast as any pitcher on the Colonial nine.

Backing up this pitching staff is a steadily improving defensive squad. Jack Tivnan at third has yet to work out his early season quirks, but he is getting more accustomed to the hot corner with each game. Bob Cillento and Chet Pietras have made their share of the errors at short and second, but they have offset these with good defensive play, such as two double plays against West Virginia. Lou Clarrocca really makes the infield look good. This smooth working first sacker has an ease that must inspire confidence in the pitchers. Witnesses are still talking about the catches outfielders Frank Cavallo and Joe Famulatte made against W&L. Such circus stabs were repeated against the Mountaineers. John Yednock and Art Kennedy are the other outfielders who have made the Colonial defense sound.

A sound defense is great, but you have to have a bunch of (See GOULD, Page 12)

League Leaders Shaping; Sunday Games Rained Out

• INTRA-MURAL BASEBALL progressed through its second week with only half of the scheduled games played. All Sunday games were rained out; because of this all teams are reminded that these unplayed contests must be played before next Saturday. PIKA 10, DTD 5

In League A, Pi Kappa Alpha continued its winning ways with a 10-5 victory over Delta Tau Delta. With the score tied at 5 all in the sixth inning, Jim Kline battered one of Delt Bob McMillan's pitches for a home run, which scored 3 runs. Walt Savage, "Pike" hurler, who had previously relieved Ed Antoune, was credited with the win.

TDX 10, SAE 8

Theta Delta Chi added number two to their record in downing Sigma Alpha Epsilon 10-8. The SAE's first drew blood in the initial inning, which was highlighted by a four-bagger by Fotis Karousotis. Theta Delt came back with some timely hits and aided by some Sig-Alph errors overtook their opponents and later went ahead to stay. Bill Szanyi was the big man at bat for Theta Delt. Joe Bernot was the winning pitcher.

Sigma Nu Wins

Sigma Nu went on a rampage as they pushed 27 runs across the plate in their contest with Acacia. Lee Jungen, Sigma Nu hurler and Bill Marlow led their team's attack with a homer apiece. Dick Brerlyman and Karl Benlgens tossed for Acacia.

Sigs 12, KA 3

Gene Norwinski, Sigma Chi hurler, held Kappa Alpha to three runs while his teammates were scoring 12 for him. Johnny Nuttman and Johnny Jacobs swung the big bats for the "Sigs" in the first inning as the "Sigs" scored six runs. Final score Sigma Chi 12—KA 3.

Kappa Sig 4, TEP 0

In League B competition, Tony Monaco, Kappa Sigma Hurler, continued on his one-man rampage to bring his team the baseball crown, with another no-hitter. This time he struck out 20 out of 21 Tau Epsilon Pi batters. At present Monaco has the amazing record of 39 strikeouts out of 42 batters. Bob Mazzerro led the Kappa Sigs at bat. Final score Kappa Sigma 4, TEP 0.

TKE 18, AEP 12

In a game featuring many errors for both teams Tau Kappa Epsilon outlasted AEP 18-12. AEP got things moving with 8 runs in the

Smith, Woolwine Win Tennis

Mary Woolwine did it again when she and Nick Smith won over Lusadel Moore and Bill Shaw in the mixed doubles tournament last Saturday to become the mixed doubles champs of the University. A consolation tourney, won by Shirley Stillwell and Ivan Larrick, was also played off.

Proving her endurance as well as skill, Woolwine teamed up with Mary Strain and managed to nose out Jane Pyle and Shirley Stillwell to win the women's doubles, held on the same day.

Moffatt Wins

• JOHNNY MOFFATT, of basketball fame, turned in another winning performance by downing Ed Beale 15-5 and 15-6 for the intramural badminton championship last week.

Moffatt had disposed of Tom Israel in the semi-finals and Beale had defeated Bill Samaha in order to reach to the finals.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38
Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coated paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor changed all that—Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

His big plane education was topped with 23 missions over the far-famed "Hump," flying C-54 transports. After V-J Day, he stayed on in the Far East until March of 1948—specializing in Air Intelligence.

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went to Air Tactical school, was there rated an outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on MATS Headquarters Staff at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. fighting hitters to win ball games. The Colonials are meeting these requirements especially well. Pietras has been leading off and getting on, Cilento has been consistently a hitter. Working out of the third spot in the batting order, Joe Famulatte has not set the blistering pace he achieved last year, but he has come along—witness the Mountaineer game in which he got three singles. Don Druckenmiller, the clean-up man, has shown the most devastating hitting so far. A couple of home runs top the list of long hits that catcher Druckenmiller has contributed. Tivnan had an off day against West Virginia, but he has had good afternoons and this right hander should have many more good days. One of Jack's long fouls Saturday went into the visitor's bull pen at Griffith Stadium.

Frank Cavallo is a better hitter than his seventh spot in the batting order seems to show. Footsie doesn't mind the position, for he has been hitting well all along. Johnny Yednock, Art Kennedy, and Scotty Fleetwood have been alternating in the other outfield positions, with Yednock hitting the strongest of the three.

This is no world shaker of a team; it can lose the next four games as well as win them. Virginia and William and Mary will be hard to beat. The way the Colonials have been fighting and working together, however, the future looks bright.

Regatta

Harwood, GW, was second in "B" division with a total of 38 points. The three-way tie for top honors in "A" division was a most unusual occurrence. George Collins, University skipper; Johnny Brown, Princeton; and Chuck Robertson, Navy, each had a total of 48 points.

University crews for his regatta were Bob Adams, Jeanne Davis, Mary Davis, and Steve Falk.

Next week the sailors return to Annapolis for the Navy Spring Invitational Regatta. They will compete with Boston College, Cornell University, Drexel, Georgetown, Harvard, Lafayette, Lehigh, Maryland, New York Maritime, Penn, St. John's, Syracuse, Navy, and one team from the Middle West. This regatta promises to be another cut-throat competition since many of the best teams in the East will be sailing against each other for the first time this season.
